I WAS STANDING ON GATE 35 WAITING FOR MY FLIGHT TO COME IN, THE TEAM THAT WAS ON THAT GATE JUST STARTED TO PUSH THEIR FLIGHT OUT, AS THEY WERE PUSHING, I NOTICED THE PLANE WAS A LITTLE CLOSE TO ANOTHER PLANE ON GATE 37, MY VIEW IT LOOKED AS HE HAD ENOUGH SPACE TO PAST, I LOOKED AT THE WING WALKER ON THAT SIDE SHE WAS JUST WALKING FORWARD MY OPINION SHE WASN'T PAYING ATTENTION TO HOW FAR OVER THE PUSH DRIVER HAD THE PLANE, ONCE THE ~~THE~~ PLANE'S WING HIT THE BACK OF THE SECOND AIRCRAFT THE WING WALKER LOOKED UP AND THEN GAVE HIM THE STOP SIGNAL, BY THAT TIME IT WAS TOO LATE

On April 12, 2009 around 3:45pm I pushed back a plane from gate 35. There were also two wing walkers. As I pushed back the plane from 35 it looked like I had enough room to make the S turn. As I pass Gate 37 the wing on my plane hit the back end of the other plane. That's when the plane the nose of the plane was shaking. I stopped looked around and that when I seen my wing walkers telling me to stop. I then told the Captain what happen, he them told me to leave the plane there he would call someone. As I walked to the manager one of my ramp agents came on told me that he seen the whole thing and that the wing walkers were not paying attention to what was going on. He said they aint say stop still after the fact.
